

Do you want to learn more about
bladder & bowel healthcare?

The ACA wants to support health & social care professionals of the future

by offering FREE membership

What is the ACA?

The Association for Continence Advice (ACA) is a multi-professional association open to all health and allied care professionals who are working within, or have an interest in the field of bladder and bowel management.

Membership gives you opportunities for professional development, skill sharing with peers and inter-disciplinary continence professionals, networking and educational opportunities through our regular newsletters, annual conference, study days, local branches, awards, and through our website and members only areas.

What do I receive as a Student Member?

Access to all online resources
Access to the quarterly e-newsletter 'Continence Matters'
Lower conference fees
Free attendance at regional educational events
Public access to the MOOC (Massive Open Online Course)
'Understanding Continence Promotion'

How do I join the ACA as a Student Member?

Online: <https://www.aca.uk.com/join-us>

Telephone: Contact the Association management company Fitwise on 01506 811077

Take a look at what is available on our website:

www.aca.uk.com

Do you want to learn more about
bladder & bowel healthcare?

The ACA wants to support health & social care professionals of the
future

by offering FREE membership

What is the ACA?

The Association for Continence Advice (ACA) is a multi-professional association open to all health and allied care professionals who are working within, or have an interest in the field of bladder and bowel management.

Membership gives you opportunities for professional development, skill sharing with peers and inter-disciplinary continence professionals, networking and educational opportunities through our regular newsletters, annual conference, study days, local branches, awards, and through our website and members only areas.

What do I receive as a Student Member?

Access to all online resources
Access to the quarterly e-newsletter 'Continence Matters'
Lower conference fees
Free attendance at regional educational events
Public access to the MOOC (Massive Open Online Course)
'Understanding Continence Promotion'

How do I join the ACA as a Student Member?

Online: <https://www.aca.uk.com/join-us>

Telephone: Contact the Association management company Fitwise on 01506 811077

Take a look at what is available on our website:

www.aca.uk.com